DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 14-17, 19-22, 24-26, and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brucker et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,500,012 in view of Cosens et al. (4,034,762). Brucker et al. teaches a treatment device assembly for an endoscopic surgical instrument comprising a hollow needle/electrode, a control mechanism means for extending and retracting the needle/electrode, a means for interlocking said assembly to a housing, the cannula including a curvable surface (see the tip of the cannula) for deflecting the needle at an angle from the primary axis, having a wire, first and second ends, means for tensioning said wire, means for deflecting in a curved end, generator for supplying radio frequency energy, and a fiber optic disposed in the axial lumen of a needle. Brucker et al. teaches all of the limitations of the claims except for an insulating layer surrounding a portion of the electrode proximate the distal end of the needle. Cosens et al. teaches an insulating layer surrounding a portion of the electrode of a needle. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention, to modify the electrode device of Brucker et al. as taught by Cosens et al. to contain a insulating layer surrounding the electrode for the well know purpose of separating the electrode from the body of the device to prevent any unwanted disruption of ablation.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 14-17, 19-22, 24-26, and 30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection necessitated by amendment.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
